AHFES held its final meeting in Galway

Since June 2018 the project has collaborated across the sector to improve the overall competitiveness and growth of SMEs in the value chain of healthy food & lifestyles. The AHFES activities were implemented by a group of 10 organisations from different regions in all countries of the Atlantic area. That is: UK, Ireland, France, Portugal and Spain.

A partnership that brought together different kinds of organisations, including food clusters, innovation support organisations, public health organisations, research organisations.
